

Becki Schick & Bob Wolverton

Bobby and I met in December of 2001. In addition to working corporate all week long, I was a waitress on Saturdays at Strawberry Place, my friend's restaurant. I happened to be working that Sunday as a favor, when Bobby and his then roommate came in. The other waitresses teased me that I blushed whenever I went over to his table. I kept running into Bobby over the next few weeks and we finally exchanged phone numbers. We began dating shortly after.

In October of 2003, I took Bobby out for dinner for his birthday at Callahan's in Nyack, NY. Afterwards, we went back to my place. He left to run out to his car and when he came back, he had 18 red gerber daisies. As I was getting a vase Bobby got down on his knee and said, "My favorite birthday gift is having you in my life, but the greatest thing you could give me would be the gift of being my wife." Of course I said yes.

We knew we wanted to have a fall wedding and that we wanted to find a venue that would allow us to have both an outdoor ceremony and reception. We fell in love with Bretton Woods the second we pulled into the driveway. The gardens and gazebo area were beautiful. The ambiance of the mansion and its history were a perfect fit.

Planning our wedding with the staff at Bretton Woods was amazing! They allowed Bobby and I to have our dog included in our ceremony, which meant the world to us. They were always there to answer questions and to help with any situation that arose. I had some problems with my dress, so a staff member provided pins and helped me pin it to perfection.

We were very careful in choosing our food. For our cocktail hour we had two carving stations, with flank steak and corned beef; an Italian station with pasta, eggplant rolantini, and fried calamari; a crepe station with spinach and mushrooms; and finally hot spiced apples. For dinner we chose chateau briand with a bordelaise sauce, rosemary chicken in a white cream sauce, and salmon with dill cream.

Our wedding at Bretton Woods was perfect. We didn't have to do anything but enjoy the day!
